After the formal presentation, it was time for good music from The New Prohibition Band. Their upbeat set featured a lively sampling of toe-tapping sounds they describe as neo-folk-electronica.

We were also surprised by some other musicians who 'dropped by' to perform later in the evening after The New Prohibition Band wrapped up.

NPR FM Berlin 104,1 fans mingle at our special event.

Attendees finished the night by sharing conversation and getting to know each other. If you were there, did you have a good time? We certainly did!
